MESSAGE FROM THE PASTOR

One important truth this Sunday's parable teaches is that our freedom does not operate in a vacuum. We truly are free to choose to follow Christ or not follow Christ, but outside factors influence that freedom, trying to get us to choose a self-centered life over a Christ-centered life.

The first influence is the devil, represented by the birds that eat the seed of the path. The devil is real. He and his army of fallen angels hate God and God's followers. They influenced our first parents, Adam, and Eve, successfully tempting them to disobey God's commandments, thereby breaking off their friendship with God. The devil wants to do the same thing to us.

So, he is always planting half-truths in our minds: God won't mind if you have a little fun; God will forgive you that sin; you don't really need the sacraments, you can just go to God directly, all by yourself... He uses subtle deceptions to uproot our friendship with God.

The second influence is our own tendency to laziness and comfort, what St Paul calls "the flesh." This is represented by the rocky soil. Many times, God's will demand self-sacrifice - we have to carry crosses, just as Jesus did, if we want to be faithful to our life's purpose. Our ingrained love for comfort resists self-sacrifice.

The third influence is the culture around us, which is a product of the fallen human nature. This is represented by the thorns. This fallen world promises perfect happiness in money, achievements, popularity, or passing pleasures. That is a false promise, because God alone satisfies the human heart.

When we follow God's will and stay true to our friendship with Christ even in the face of these contrary influences, then our lives bear the abundant fruits of wisdom, compassion, and lasting happiness.

Have a Blessed Sunday!

MENSAJE DEL PÁRROCO

Una verdad importante que enseña la parábola de este domingo es que nuestra libertad no opera en el vacío. Verdaderamente somos libres de elegir seguir a Cristo o no seguir a Cristo, pero factores externos influyen en esa libertad, tratando de llevarnos a elegir una vida egocéntrica sobre una vida Cristocéntrica.

La primera influencia es el diablo, representado por las aves que comen la semilla del camino. El diablo es real. Él y su ejército de ángeles caídos odian a Dios ya los seguidores de Dios. Influyeron en nuestros primeros padres, Adán y Eva, tentándolos con éxito a desobedecer los mandamientos de Dios, rompiendo así su amistad con Dios. El diablo quiere hacer lo mismo con nosotros.

Entonces, él siempre está sembrando verdades a medias en nuestras mentes: a Dios no le importará si te diviertes un poco; Dios te perdonará ese pecado; realmente no necesitas los sacramentos, puedes ir a Dios directamente, solo... Él usa engaños sutiles para desarraigar nuestra amistad con Dios.

La segunda influencia es nuestra propia tendencia a la pereza y a la comodidad, lo que San Pablo llama "la carne". Esto está representado por el suelo rocoso. Muchas veces, la voluntad de Dios exige abnegación - tenemos que llevar cruces, tal como lo hizo Jesús, si queremos ser fieles al propósito de nuestra vida. Nuestro arraigado amor por la comodidad se resiste al autosacrificio.

La tercera influencia es la cultura que nos rodea, que es producto de la naturaleza humana caída. Esto está representado por las espinas. Este mundo caído promete felicidad perfecta en dinero, logros, popularidad o placeres pasajeros. Esa es una promesa falsa, porque solo Dios satisface el corazón humano.

Cuando seguimos la voluntad de Dios y nos mantenemos fieles a nuestra amistad con Cristo incluso frente a estas influencias contrarias, entonces nuestras vidas producen abundantes frutos de sabiduría, compasión y felicidad duradera.

¡Que tengan un Bendecido Domingo!

FAMILY ENRICHMENT

“Family First” / “La Familia Primero”

by Fr. Gabriel Augustine, MF

“What kind of obedience are you practicing with your kids?”

There can be two kinds of obedience we can try to foster with our children. Servile / Slave obedience or Christian obedience.

Servile obedience: in this your goal is fulfilling. This obedience is rooted in fear, it is subject to human authority and agenda. It produces mindlessness.

Christian obedience: in this the goal is intimacy with your children. It is rooted in teaching loving service. Here we are subjected to God’s authority, prayer, discernment. It produces good discernment and moral reasoning in the minds of your children.

For example: You want your kid to clean his/her room. Under Servile obedience, you say to your kid, “you must do it, no excuse, if not punishment for not doing it. Under Christian obedience, you say to your kid, “I am going to need you to clean your room but tell me what is going on with you so that we can a plan to clean your room”. This way you still meet your need. If your kid is struggling to clean his/her room, don’t tell your kid they have no willingness or shame on them, instead provide more structure, support to help your kids succeed.

“¿Qué tipo de obediencia estás practicando con tus hijos?”

Pueden haber dos tipos de obediencia que podemos tratar de fomentar con nuestros hijos. La obediencia servil / esclava o la obediencia Cristiana.

Obediencia servil: en esta se cumple nuestro fin. Esta obediencia está arraigada en el miedo, está sujeta a la autoridad y la agenda humana. Produce insensatez.

Obediencia Cristiana: en esta la meta es la intimidad con nuestros hijos. Tiene sus raíces en la enseñanza del servicio amoroso. Aquí estamos sujetos a la autoridad de Dios, la oración, el discernimiento. Produce buen discernimiento y razonamiento moral en la mente de nuestros hijos.

Por ejemplo: si quieres que tu hijo limpie su habitación. Bajo la obediencia servil, le dices a tu hijo: “debes hacerlo, no hay excusa, si no te castigo por no hacerlo. Bajo la obediencia Cristiana, le dices a tu hijo: "Voy a necesitar que limpies tu habitación, pero dime qué te pasa para que podamos hacer un plan para limpiar tu habitación". Incluso de esta manera todavía satisface su necesidad. Si su hijo tiene dificultades para limpiar su habitación, no le diga que no está dispuesto o que no tiene vergüenza, en lugar de eso, bríndele más estructura y apoyo para ayudarlo a tener éxito.
