Jesus had a specific mission to accomplish during his earthly lifetime. He was to fulfill the Old Testament prophecies and lay the foundation for the universal sacrament of salvation, the Catholic Church. And he stayed focused on that mission. Jesus never traveled to exotic locations like Rome and Spain, never visited the intellectual powerhouses of Athens and Alexandria. Those countries and the rest of the world outside Palestine would receive God's truth and grace not from him directly, but later, through his body, the Church.

And yet, when the Canaanite woman approaches him and, by her faith, humility, and persistence, moves his heart, he changes his plans. In so doing, he gives us a brilliant glimpse into the reason behind everything he does: the salvation of souls. As St. Paul puts it in his First Letter to Timothy, "God wants everyone to be saved and reach the full knowledge of the truth" (1 Timothy 2:4). This was one of the most revolutionary aspects of the Gospel.

In Old Testament times, salvation from sin, both original and personal, had been reserved only to the Jews, only to the one Chosen People. But with the coming of Jesus, all peoples, all the Gentile nations are now invited to hope for eternal life in the household of God, the "house of prayer for all peoples" as Isaiah had prophesied in the First Reading.

Jesus is reminding us today, by this miraculous cure of the demon-possessed girl, that his heart beats for us. He demands great things from us because he loves us so greatly.

This weekend, when we receive him in Holy Communion, let's renew our commitment to be faithful to his commandments, so that we never find ourselves stuck at a spiritual dead-end.

Have a Blessed Sunday!

Sanctuary Candle for the Special Intention of Garces' Family
August 19 - August 25, 2023

Jesús tenía una misión específica que cumplir durante su vida terrenal. Debía cumplir las profecías del Antiguo Testamento y sentar las bases para el sacramento universal de la salvación, la Iglesia Católica. Y se mantuvo enfocado en esa misión. Jesús nunca viajó a lugares exóticos como Roma y España, nunca visitó las potencias intelectuales de Atenas y Alejandría. Esos países y el resto del mundo fuera de Palestina recibirían la verdad y la gracia de Dios no de él directamente, sino más tarde, a través de su cuerpo, la Iglesia.

Y sin embargo, cuando la mujer Cananea se le acerca y, por su fe, humildad y persistencia, conmueve su corazón, él cambia sus planes. Al hacerlo, nos da un vistazo brillante de la razón detrás de todo lo que hace: la salvación de las almas. Como dice San Pablo en su Primera Carta a Timoteo, "Dios quiere que todos se salven y alcancen el pleno conocimiento de la verdad" (1 Timoteo 2:4). Este fue uno de los aspectos más revolucionarios del Evangelio.

En tiempos del Antiguo Testamento, la salvación del pecado, tanto original como personal, estaba reservada solo a los judíos, solo al único Pueblo Elegido. Pero con la venida de Jesús, todos los pueblos, todas las naciones gentiles están ahora invitadas a esperar la vida eterna en la casa de Dios, la "casa de oración de todos los pueblos", como había profetizado Isaías en la Primera Lectura.

Jesús nos está recordando hoy, por esta cura milagrosa de la niña poseída por el demonio, que su corazón late por nosotros. Él exige grandes cosas de nosotros porque nos ama tanto.

Este fin de semana, cuando lo recibamos en la Sagrada Comunión, renovemos nuestro compromiso de ser fieles a sus mandamientos, para que nunca nos encontremos atrapados en un callejón sin salida espiritual.

¡Que tengan un Bendecido Domingo!

TELLING IS NOT SAME AS TEACHING

Teens are often accused of being egocentric or self-centered, but the fact is we are all broken and sinful people. Learning to tune in and attend to the needs of others doesn't come naturally to any of us. Kindness, attentiveness and self-giving these are the skills we need to be taught. If you find your child egoistic or self-centered, you may have told them to be more attentive to the needs of others, but we probably have not actually given them practical support they need to learn actually do it. Telling is not the same thing as teaching.

- The fact is that the Teens are capable of bringing positive, practical ideas to conversations about solving common family problems, if we teach them how to do it.
- Teens like feeling that we respect and value their input.
- Parents of Teens need to get out of the mindset, “it's up to me to tell them what to do” and move into “it is up to me to facilitate a conversation where all the family members work together to resolve problems and difficulties”.
- The more we are able to communicate this respect, the more our teens want to change from being egoistic.

DECIR NO ES LO MISMO QUE ENSEÑAR

A menudo se acusa a los adolescentes de ser egocéntricos o centrados en sí mismos, pero el hecho es que todos somos personas quebrantadas y pecaminosas. Aprender a sintonizar y atender las necesidades de los demás no es algo natural para ninguno de nosotros. Amabilidad, atención y entrega son las habilidades que necesitamos que nos enseñen. Si encuentra a su hijo egoísta o egocéntrico, es posible que le haya dicho que esté más atento a las necesidades de los demás, pero probablemente no le hayamos brindado el apoyo práctico que necesita para aprender a hacerlo. Decir no es lo mismo que enseñar.

- El caso es que los Adolescentes son capaces de aportar ideas prácticas y positivas a conversaciones sobre cómo resolver problemas familiares comunes, si les enseñamos cómo hacerlo.
- A los adolescentes les gusta sentir que respetamos y valoramos sus aportes.
- Los padres de Adolescentes necesitan salir de la mentalidad “a mí me toca decirles qué hacer” y pasar a “a mí me corresponde facilitar una conversación donde todos los miembros de la familia trabajen juntos para resolver problemas y dificultades”.
- Cuanto más podamos comunicar este respeto, nuestros adolescentes querrán más dejar de ser egoístas.
